

Alicia Keller

Genesee County

4-H Project Achievement Scholarship

Alicia Keller states in her application that the act of giving back to ones community is a form of participation that she has come to accept as on of the greatest accomplishments in her life. Her participation in the 4-H swine project area and in leadership development have led her to want to pursue a career in agriculture at the national level where she hopes she can work hands on with agriculture legislation. Participation at the national level is not new to Alicia, who was a delegate to the 2007 National 4-H Conference and this year she served on the planning committee for the 2008 Conference. She has been involved on the STARR planning committee and as a Focus assistant. Outside of 4-H, Alicia is very active in the National Junior Swine Association, swim team, track, student government, SADD, Key club and yearbook. In Genesee County she has provided leadership in panning the 4-H Snow Camp weekend and has worked in the area of GIS/GPS teaching new Hispanic audiences about precision farming through the summer 4-H migrant education science program and at the county fair. Alicia will be attending Perdue University in the fall.
